INTRODUCTION

The Premier's Council on the Status of Disabled Persons is pleased to present this 22nd edition of the Directory of Services Offered to Persons with Disabilities in New Brunswick, which incorporates new services, as well as changes that have taken place in the programs and services previously listed that have been brought to our attention during the past year.

If you find errors in any of the listings, or if you are aware of other services in your area that could possibly be included in the Directory, please let us know.

Our intentions are to provide a descriptive list of services and programs offered by non-profit organizations or government to the people of the province with disabilities. The Council is not responsible for the actual delivery of these services, however; and it is not our goal to imply an evaluation or judgement of the degree of professionalism of the services listed.

The previous editions of our Directory have proven to be very useful in the past and we hope that this new version will be of assistance to you.

For monthly updates, contact the office or check the website.

2. Adaptations for low-income seniors who have difficulty with daily living activities in the home.
3. Provides assistance for limited modifications to eligible households to accommodate an aging parent.
4. Low-income homeowners occupying existing substandard housing to repair, rehabilitate, or improve their dwellings to a minimum level of health and safety.

The amount is at the provincial borrowing interest rate and can be repaid over a period of up to 15 years.

- Where situations warrant rental subsidies (Rent Supplements) may be provided to ensure units are affordable to low-income households. Tenants qualifying for assistance through the Rent Supplement Program will have their rents reduced to 30% of the adjusted household income. Landlords will receive the difference between the rent paid by the tenant and the market rent agreed to under a rental agreement.

ADULTS WITH DISABILITIES AND SENIOR SERVICES BRANCH

ADULT DEVELOPMENT ACTIVITIES, PROGRAMS AND TRAINING (A.D.A.P.T.)

A.D.A.P.T. is a program that provides long-term care clients appropriate opportunities to learn skills in centre or community based settings. Through a supported environment, A.D.A.P.T. focuses on the development and provision of valued training and activities and encourages appropriate behaviour, respect of daily schedules, dress, social habits and all other expectations that are placed on an adult individual.

A.D.A.P.T. services are designed to meet the participant's needs on a full-time or part-time basis. Although A.D.A.P.T. services, for the most part, are developmental in nature and designed to meet the needs of the clients, as a result of this service, families and guardians of the client receive valuable hours of respite.

Individuals who have been assessed as eligible for long term care services and for whom it has been determined that this type of activity is appropriate can be referred to an A.D.A.P.T. program. The individual should be willing to participate in personal growth activities based on his or her interests and strengths.

LONG TERM CARE PROGRAM

Long term care services refer to a range of services required by adults and seniors who, because of long term functional limitations, need assistance to function as independently as possible. The objective is to provide appropriate long term care services at the appropriate time and in the appropriate place within the overall continuum of care.

Services range from in-home support services to services in residential settings, including adult residential facilities (special care homes and community residences) and nursing homes.

Home Support Services

Home support services are provided to eligible clients who require non-professional personal assistance with care needs or with essential light housekeeping tasks can be maintained at home. The types of services available include personal care, homemaker/housekeeper, meals on wheels, or relief care. Clients who require more services than can be provided in their homes may be eligible for services in a residential facility.

Residential Facilities

Residential Facilities are approved to provide specific levels of care. Generally, nursing homes provide services to clients, mostly seniors, who require a high level of care and professional nursing services on a regular basis; community residences provide residential services to adults who require a high level of care, but do not require professional nursing services on a regular basis; special care homes provide residential services to clients (adults and seniors) who do not require a high level of care and professional nursing care on a regular basis.

Nursing Home Services

Nursing homes, licensed by the Nursing Homes Services Branch of the Department of Family and Community Services, provide long term care for eligible individuals whose care needs are greater than the family and other informal or formal community care resources and residential facilities can provide. The Long Term Care Program is responsible for determining eligibility for nursing home placement.

CHILD WELFARE & YOUTH SERVICES BRANCH

Community-Based Services for Children with Special Needs:
The Community-Based Services for Children with Special Needs Program (CBSCSN) under the Department of Family and Community Services offers services to families who are unable to provide all the care and support required to meet the special developmental needs of their severely disabled child. CBSCSN is a voluntary program, so families must demonstrate that in addition to the other community services they are accessing, their child still has some unmet needs. This program is not insured, so families must be prepared to contribute financially, where possible, to the additional services offered.

To be eligible a child must have a severe disability, which is life-long in nature and affects their daily living. The child must be under 19 years of age, and both they and their family/guardians must be residents of New Brunswick with valid Medicare cards.

Once a child is admitted to the Community-Based Services for Children with Special Needs Program, an individual Service Plan is developed based on the child's strengths, needs, and the services availability. Depending on the child's special needs, identified in the Service Plan, services or items may be purchased to assist the family in providing the care and support the child requires. Some of these services or items covered are respite care, parent aides, medical and rehabilitation transportation, recreational opportunities and home support services.

Children whose families do not have private health insurance may be eligible for a health card that covers items such as prescription drugs, dental care, optical care, medical and rehabilitation equipment.

When families are no longer able to meet the care and supervision needs of their child, they may consider a temporary placement with the Department in a foster home or a group home situation.
For more information contact the regional offices of the Department of Family and Community Services.

Brain research points to a brief window of extraordinary learning opportunity in early childhood. Success at this stage can mean learning success throughout life. We work in partnership with communities and agencies to assist parents in providing opportunities so that children are given the strongest start possible and that they are prepared to continue to learn from the time they enter school.

Programs and services include Early Intervention Services, Prenatal Benefit Program, Child Day Care Services, Day Care Assistance Program, Alternative Child Care Program, Services for Preschool Children with Autism, Quality Improvement Funding Support Program, Early Childhood Social Worker Services, Home Economics Services, Support Services to Education and Excellence in Parenting Programs, Nobody's Perfect Parenting Program.

SERVICES FOR PRESCHOOL CHILDREN WITH AUTISM:

The Department of Family and Community Services (FCS) provides families with up to $20,000 a year, per child, to purchase evidence-based services, including Applied Behaviour Analysis (ABA) therapy, that are part of an approved case plan.

These services will be in addition, if the family is eligible, to those services that the child and family may be already receiving through such programs as:

- Integrated Daycare and Early Intervention Services through Early Childhood Initiative;
- Rehabilitative Services through the Hospitals and Extra-Mural Programs; and
- Family support services through Community Based Services for Children with Special Needs.

Eligibility

- Child must be five years of age or under as of December 31st in the year of application;
- Child must be registered under the Early Childhood Initiatives (ECI) and/or the Community-Based Services for Children with Special Needs (CBSCSN) Program;
- Must be a resident of New Brunswick (in accordance with the Medical Services Payment Act);
- Must have documentation of diagnosis of Autism Spectrum Disorders.

INTERPRETER SERVICES FOR THE DEAF:

In order to increase accessibility to providing critical interpreter services, the Department of Family and Community Services provides these services in a limited number of defined settings when services are not available through other departments or the natural support system is unavailable or inadequate.

Interpreter services are short term and limited to medical appointments, counselling, court preparation and proceedings, and some specific situation related to employment, social services and education outside the school system (parent teacher interview).

The service can be accessed through the Access and Assessment Services of the regional office of Family and Community Services (a list of the regions and telephone numbers to follow). If the request is approved, the service will be coordinated through one of the two following agencies: South-East Deaf and Hard of Hearing Services Inc. (see listing on page 171) and Saint John Deaf and Hard of Hearing Services Inc. (see listing on page 163).

The overall mission of the Mental Health Services is to improve, restore and/or maintain the mental health and emotional well-being of the citizens of New Brunswick.

This is accomplished through providing promotion/prevention, treatment, rehabilitation and maintenance programs. All programs focus on the individual and ensure individual and community involvement.

Services are available through a range of informal and formal services. Informal services include self-help groups and activity centres. Formal services include 13 community mental health centres servicing children & adolescents, adults and seniors, nine psychiatric units and two psychiatric hospitals.

PUBLIC HEALTH SERVICES

Website: www.gnb.ca/0053

Childhood Immunization Program (Children 1-16 years of age) - This program provides protection against many childhood, vaccine-preventable diseases. Routine immunizations are offered to children by Public Health Nurses in Pediatric Immunization Clinics and to 16 year olds at school, and via physicians through their office. The Victorian Order of Nurses provide hepatitis B immunization to all Grade four students in the school setting.

Dental Health Activities - These activities focus primarily on reducing the incidence of dental disease and improving the level of oral hygiene among elementary school children. A principal component is a weekly fluoride mouth rinse program for all children in grades 1-6.

Early Childhood Initiatives - This program is designed to help parents give their children the best start in life, to grow strong and healthy in a healthy family. The Public Health components of the program include:

> Prenatal - Services include prenatal screening to identify those pregnant women most in need, education and counselling to address specific needs, and nutrition supplementation, as necessary.
> Postnatal - Services to children 0 to 5 years of age include screening of all newborns and their families to identify those infants who are most at-risk of developmental delay, education and counselling to address specific needs and nutrition supplementation.

3.5 Year Old Health Clinic - All 3.5 year old children and their families are invited to attend a 3.5 Year Old Health Clinic. Services include a comprehensive health assessment of a child's vision, hearing, speech/language, general physical growth and development, safety, nutrition, immunization status, and behaviour. In collaboration with the family, referrals to various health providers are made based on the results of these assessments.

International Travellers' Clinics - Education, counselling and immunizations are provided to international travellers by nurses of the VON. There is a fee for the immunizations provided at these clinics. Please call for an appointment well in advance of your planned departure date.

Nutrition Services - Nutrition information is available through the public health office.

School Health - Limited health consultation referrals and counselling are offered by public health nurses who visit schools on a periodic basis.

Sexual Health Centres - The Sexual Health Program was established to help prevent unplanned pregnancies among adolescents and young, single adults. TESS - TRAINING AND EMPLOYMENT SUPPORT SERVICES FOR PERSONS WITH DISABILITIES

The Training and Employment Support Services (TESS) for Persons with Disabilities program offers training and employment services that enable persons with disabilities to achieve their occupational goal or obtain employment.

The purpose of TESS is to decrease the barriers faced by persons with disabilities so that they may be as competitive as the non-disabled population in their search for employment.

Although everybody's needs are different, some of the services a TESS client may be eligible for include counselling to help decide on a career plan, adaptive equipment required to pursue a career goal, and assistance with special educational or training costs.

For more information, contact a TESS coordinator at one of the following locations:

CANADA PENSION PLAN - DISABILITY BENEFITS

The Canada Pension Plan (CPP) disability benefit is a monthly payment. It is available to people who contributed recently to the Canada Pension Plan while they worked, and then became unable to work at any job on a regular basis because of a disability. The primary purpose is to replace a portion of employment earnings for people who recently paid into the CPP. There are also benefits for children if at least one parent qualifies for the CPP disability benefit.

A CPP disability benefit is not approved on the basis of which disability or disease you have, but on how the medical condition and its treatment affect your ability to work at any job on a regular basis.

Applicants who have a terminal illness will have their disability applications decided on within 48 hours upon receipt of their application. Social Development Canada (SDC) staff give these applications priority to determine eligibility quickly so that benefit payments can start as soon as possible.

Can I work while receiving benefits? Yes, you can earn up to $4,000 (before taxes) in 2004 without informing SDC staff and without losing your benefit. This amount may increase in future years.

Once you earn $4,000 from work, you should contact SDC staff about your current work situation and your future work goals. If you can only work once in a while, you may be able to earn more than $4,000 while still receiving your CPP disability benefit payment. It is important to contact us so we can look at your individual situation.

If you believe you are able to work on a regular basis, SDC staff may be able to help you achieve your goals through the CPP vocational rehabilitation program. As new technology, medical treatments and skills training are making it possible for some people with disabilities to re-enter the work force, this program is designed to help you return to work.

At this time you can't access or fill out a CPP disability application kit online. Please contact us at the number below and we will send you the kit to fill out. You must apply for a disability benefit in writing. If you prefer, someone else (a family member or friend) can complete the kit for you (but please make sure that you sign the application form for your benefit).

The Canadian National Institute for the Blind is a national, voluntary agency providing specialized rehabilitation and support services to individuals to whom loss of vision is a central problem in personal and social adjustment. The CNIB also acts as a consultant and resource agency to the helping professions, government departments and private industry.

The basic aim of the CNIB is to help blind and visually impaired people find ways to lead satisfying lives. The CNIB is committed to helping anyone with a vision problem that cannot be corrected using ordinary lenses and that significantly affects the person's ability to function normally.

CNIB's specific objectives are to improve the condition of the blind of Canada, to prevent blindness and to promote sight enhancement services. To carry out these objectives, CNIB offers specific core services which address the special needs of blind and visually impaired persons. These include counselling with respect to vision loss and referral to appropriate services, instruction in daily living skills and communication techniques such as Braille, white cane instruction, low vision assessments and training, technical aids assessment and training, vocational and employment counselling and placement, talking and Braille books and magazine library services, and specialized children's services including a toy and resource lending library. CNIB also sponsors the Wise Owl industrial eye safety program. In addition, a wide range of pamphlets and other resource materials are available to the community.

CNIB has trained staff and volunteers available to do presentations and workshops. These workshops can range from general information about CNIB or blindness and visual impairment, to in-service presentations dealing with specific rehabilitation issues. They also have trained volunteers to do eye safety presentations for industry, recreation and education facilities.

Children who attend the camps are taught skills that will assist them to better manage and control their asthma. Most importantly, it allows the children an opportunity to have fun, and establish healthy relationships with their peers and health professionals.

The Association offers public education on an ongoing basis. The public is encouraged to call the Association and receive on-line education and free resource tools as a means to increase their understanding and knowledge about proper care and management of their or their child's asthma.
